GUARDS TO BE SENT TO CONCEPTION JCT.

WILL ARRIVE AT THAT PLACE THIS EVENING

WORKERS ARE EXPECTED

Strikers Say They Will Not Cause Any Trouble—Injunction Was Granted Great Western

United States Deputy Marshal Sampson of St. Joseph and ten guards who have been deputized as deputy sheriffs are scheduled to arrive in Conception Junction about six o'clock this evening for the purpose of guarding the shops there and to protect workers who will be brought in to take the place of the strikers.

Sheriff Steve Roach is to go to Conception Junction this afternoon and will issue commissions to the guards as deputy sheriff. These men were in Maryville yesterday with J. G. Wenk, trainmaster of the Chicago Great Western railroad company, and after being questioned as to where they lived and their other qualifications for a commission, all of them were able to qualify. The railroad officials requested of the county authorities protection at Conception Junction and decided to bring in guards of their own if they could get commissions for them.

A committee of four men representing the strikers was in conference with Prosecuting Attorney Charles McCaffrey and Sheriff Roach last evening. These men were anxious if guards were to be selected to have good men and said they would make no trouble there. They said they could win their cause without making trouble.

The injunction of the Great Western against the strikers was granted in Kansas City yesterday. While the United States marshal will be in charge of the situation at Conception Junction, yet Sheriff Roach will assist and be in charge of the men who have been issued commissions as deputy sheriffs.

It is said the decision of the company to seek an injunction was reached following an alleged disturbance at Conception, Saturday, following which the company closed its roundhouse there.

According to a Great Western official, strikers and strike sympathizers intimidated the railroad workers at Conception and chased four men out of town. The quartet comprised company men who had been transferred to Conception from Des Moines to help man and operate the roundhouse.

"Threats of killing and violence were made to the workers," the official said. "The four railroad officers from Des Moines were run out of town and told that it would be better for them never to let the sun set on them in Conception again."

Following this the company closed its roundhouse and has not since undertaken to operate it. No effort will be made to resume operations in the roundhouse until there is satisfactory guarantee that the men may work without being hindered, intimidated or threatened, Great Western representatives say.

FARRINGTON ANNOUNCES ST. MEETING FOR ROUTINE.

STERLING IN PROPOSAL

Suggests Miners Get Back on the Job at Wage Prior to April 1 Until Settlement Is Reached.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26—Governor McCary wired President Harding that the statements of John Lewis, miners president, that the government's scheme of reopening the mines will prove a failure is disloyal and defiant and asks that prompt action on the part of the federal authorities be taken.

St. Louis, July 26—President Frank Farrington of the Illinois miners, after a meeting of the executive board declared that the meeting was not to discuss the strike settlement but was merely for routine business. He declared that it is doubtful if Hoover's priority order will be success, due to the fact that he will be unable to secure cars. He reinerated the statement of the Illinois operators that they will not attempt to open the mines.

Springfield, Ill., July 26—An immediate return to work by the Illinois miners was proposed by Acting Governor Sterling in a telegram to Frank Farrington, who is attending the executive board conference in St. Louis. Sterling suggests that representatives of the miners and operators in Illinois meet during a temporary resumption of work to discuss a settlement. Working conditions would be the same as prior to April 1.

Washington July 26—A conference of the governors of the state of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois is being considered to formulate plans for the reopening of idle mines in these states, if the mines are unable to reopen within a week, it was learned here.

Cleveland, July 26—Whether a joint conference of miners and operators with a view of settling the coal strike will be held Saturday is still undecided. Despite the statement of President Hall of the Ohio miners that such action will be taken, the operators here are ready to meet the miners.

Washington, July 26—While industries are crippled for lack of coal domestic consumers will not feel the pinch of shortage for thirty days, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced after a survey of available supply.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP AT MYRTLE TREE

TALKS, "EATS," PICTURES OTHER FEATURES LAST NIGHT

WOMEN'S CLUB SERVES

Ice Cream and Cake the Refreshments —Donations for Sending Films to State Fair.

Cheery greetings, pleasant visits, Nodaway County agriculture films, short, goodfellowship talks and "eats" were features of the community meeting held last night at the Myrtle Tree schoolhouse.

A crowd which filled a large number of seats, placed between the schoolbuilding and the road, and which took up a lot of standing room attended the gathering.

The crowd began gathering before dark and the people visited about with one another. The opening feature of the prepared program was that of taking motion pictures of the crowd to be placed with the films and shown at other community meetings. First a still picture of the crowd was made and then motion pictures were made with the people cheering and standing as though the meeting were just over. The pictures were taken by Ralph Marcell.

Next the lights were turned off and the agriculture films shown. The new films that have been prepared during the last few months were included. A considerable portion of the old films had been eliminated.

Some of the films was made in the vicinity of the Myrtle Tree School and the scenes were especially familiar. Scenes on the farm of John F. Dowden and others brought cheers from the crowd.

Following the run of the films Mr. Dowden, who is president of the Myrtle Tree Club, took charge of the meeting as chairman and called for donations for the purpose of sending the agriculture films to the State Fair at Sedalia next month, in order that they may be shown as an exhibit of what is being done in Nodaway County. A number of the men made contributions. Others from the district are expected to contribute and the names will be published when the lists are completed. Ray Taylor, secretary of the farm club, kept a list of the contributors.

After the contributions had been made Mr. Dowden called on a number of persons for talks.

W. C. Pierce was the first speaker. Mr. Pierce lauded the idea of creating a community spirit and said that it is a good thing for people to get to the place where they can say to each other as they pass along the road "Howdy, kinfolks," and really feel as though they were speaking to kinfolks.

Leslie G. Somerville said that he believed that the people from the community who attended the meeting would be able to go to the threshing machines and their other work in the days to come and be able to do more and better work than could do if they had not attended the meeting last night and that the people of Maryville would be able to do better work also by having atended the meeting.

Bert Cooper said that he had found occasion to visit the Myrtle Tree School about as much since he became connected with the State Teachers College as he did when he was county superintendent of schools and that he was always glad to make the visits.

R. P. Hosmer said that he had noted many improvements in the rural schools of the county in making repeat dates with the Nodaway County agriculture films and said that making proper educational conditions for the children is the most important business of the country.

Miss Grace M. Shepherd complimented the district on its splendid community spirit.

Miss Gertrude Horton, who is to teach the Myrtle Tree school next year, made a short talk, complimenting the meeting.

Roy A. Kinnaird said that the poorest county in the state of Missouri was likely to have the best agriculture exhibit at the State Fair, since in a good county the producing of good crops is taken as a matter of fact, and the people never think of gathering up their good things for an exhibit. But Nodaway County has an exhibit that will outclass anything that can be put up in the state and that is the agriculture films.

Following these talks the women's club of the Myrtle Tree district served ice cream and cake in liberal quantities. A special effort was made by the Myrtle Tree folks to have all the visitors make the trip past the serving table first and be provided for, then the hosts themselves came by. Mrs. Will Partridge is president of the women's club.

Jack Holt of the Holt Supply Company furnished lights for the meeting with a Delco light plant. He had a number of large bulbs on a wire, strung from the school building to a tree and the grounds were about as light as day.

CHAUTAUQUA TICKET SALE TOMORROW

TO BE 1-DAY HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS

AT RESIDENTS ONLY

Those Desiring Tickets Are Asked to Have Cash or Check Book Ready

Season tickets for the Maryville Chautauqua, to take place August 5 to 11, will be put on sale tomorrow, according to arrangements made at the meeting of the guarantors, held last night at the Bible class tent of the Christian Church. The city was divided into eighteen districts and men were appointed in each of these to have charge of the sales. A house to house canvess will be made tomorrow and it is the plan to visit every home in the city.

Forty of the guarantors were present and they showed much enthusiasm. H. C. Todd, chairman of the guarantors, said this morning that the interest shown last night was the best that he has ever seen at a guarantor's meeting.

While the tickets will be placed on sale with the solicitors tomorrow, they will not be placed on sale up town. It is the plan to sell the tickets at the residences in place of up town.

Following are the men in charge of the districts: 1, D. E. Hotchkin; 2, W. H. Hull and Martin Lewis, Jr.; 3, A. T. Estes; 5, Fred French and C. M. Shelton; 6, E. M. Houchens and Lewis White; 7, W. A. White and Hal Catterson; 8, Mrs. Clara Buck; 9, Ed Brewer; 10, C. M. Shelton; 11, J. A. Speirs and George Bedford; 12, Harry Mutz and C. M. Hartness; 13, J. S. C. Spickerman; 14, Ed Goforth; 15, F. S. King and J. L. Fisher; 16, H. C. Todd; 17, U. S. Wright; 18, Frank Orcutt and A. C. Nicholas.

These men are to organize their districts and their guarantors are asked by Mr. Todd to give them support and assistance in the sales. In most cases the men appointed were present and volunteered their services. They are to be responsible for the sales in their districts and the people of Maryville who wish tickets are asked to have the cash or a check book at their homes tomorrow so that the tickets may be purchased and paid for, thereby eliminating the necessity of a second trip to the house. The drive will last for but one day. The business section up town will not be canvassed.

Mr. Todd has asked that guarantors who live outside of Maryville see him regarding tickets to be sold in their communities.

The price of the season tickets will be $1 for children between the ages of 6 and 12 years inclusive and adult tickets will be $2.25. There will be no war tax.

A chautauqua program was mailed Monday to each family that gets its mail on rural routes out of Maryville and the work of distributing programs was started in Maryville yesterday morning and is to be finished by this evening. Those who for any reason do not receive their programs may secure one at any of the banks or stores in Maryville.

W. J. Christian, field man for the Redpath-Vawter Company, was present at the meeting last night and explained the points of interest about the program for this year.

Mr. Todd announced today that the price of the season tickets will be raised to $2.50 after the town has been canvassed.

Mrs. R. E. McClain Here

Mrs. R. E. McClain of Junction City Kan., arrived last night to visit her mother, Mrs. Sarah McClain and her sister Mrs. Ethel Daniels at 422 South Mulberry Street.

LONG AT ST. JOE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

A BIG MEETING BEING ARRANGED FOR IN THAT CITY.

MANY TO GO FROM HERE

Senator Reed Spoke at St. Joseph Last Night—The Long Meeting Will Be in a Park.

Breckinridge Long, Democratic candidate for the nomination as United States Senator, will speak in St. Joseph on Friday evening. The meeting will be held in the Bartlett park in that city and preceeding the speaking there will be a band concert at the park from 7:30 to 8:30.

A number of Democrats from Maryville and other places over the county are intending to attend the meeting.

Senator Reed spoke at St. Joseph last evening. His meeting held in the auditorium in that city was attended by about 4,500 as estimated by the Kansas City Times. Of his audience, some six hundred were Kansas Citians, led by Mike Pendegrast's tenth Ward Club.

Reed poured shots at Breckinridge Long, his opponent, and his many other crities. He went over his usual ground defending his twelve-year record in senate. St. Joseph is very much "wet" and Reed devoted considerable attention to that subject.

Long last night spoke at Sikeston to a crowd estimated at eighteen hundred and gave particular attention to the German reparations and foreign trade policies of the Harding administration. He also devoted much time to his rebuttal of Senator Reed's charges against Hoover in connection with grain price fixing in the war.

Long reiterated his claim that he is not an "occasional Democrat" and "never ambushed his party from the rear nor attacked it from the front."

His audience in which women were well represented, applauded him frequently. Shortly after Long entered upon a discussion of the Republican "isolation" policy, one of the benches near the speaker's platform collapsed, precipitating several men and women to the ground. Long, after learning that no one was injured, shouted, "It fell down at the point of isolation, just like the Harding administration."

The jibe amused the audience and brought forth a din of hoots and whistles.

WAGE LOSS AMOUNTS TO $8,000,000 PER DAY

And Gloomy Report of Effect of Strike on Business Is Issued

New York, July 26—A pessimistic picture of business conditions resulting from railroad, coal and textile strikes is painted with figures included in the weekly review of industrial conditions made public by the national industrial conference board an employers' organization.

"A depressing effect on business generally is evident," the review said "Altogether over 2,000,000 persons are voluntarily idle through strikes, and since the beginning of July, 100,000,000 man-hours of work have been lost each week. With the average wage of labor taken at 50 cents an hour, the wage loss alone since the first of the month has been in excess of $150,000,000, and is proceeding at the rate of over $8,000,000 a day. This, in effect, means a serious contraction in purchasing power which in turn may have its effect on future employment and general business conditions."

The conference board reports a slight increase in the cost of living since May 15, with a 24 per cent recession from the peak reached July, 1920.

"Report of wage changes gathered by the conference board," the review said, "show that between June 15 and July 15, the number of decreases slightly exceeded the number of increases."

MAILS WILL USE TRUCKS IF RAIL SERVICE FAILS

Department Has Made Survey As to Number of Trucks Available

Extensive use of automobile trucks and airplanes is planned by the Postoffice Department in the event the strike of the railroad shopmen results in a breakdown of the railway mail service.

It was learned today that Post-master General Work has made a survey of the country to ascertain how many heavy and light automobile trucks are available for mail service, while the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce has been requested to hold its equipment in readiness to deliver mails between metropolitan centers. The air forces of the army, navy and marine corps would also be pressed into service.

T. M. Yocum of DeKalb had a score of fifty targets when the second event of the first days program for the registered tournament of the Maryville Gun Club was shot off at press time this afternoon. He was the only one in the tournament who had broken every target this afternoon.

Nineteen men are entered in the tournament of which thirteen were representatives from Bedford, Ia., Falls City, Neb., DeKalb, Bolckow, Slater and Westboro.

The scores at the end of the second event were: T. M. Yocum, 50; E. J. Moorehead, 49; T. H. Mitchell, 48; Charles A. Spencer, 48; H. F. Ehler, 48; James McCappin, 47; Theodore Robinson, 47; R. R. Charles A. Slater of St. Louis, another one of the visitors who is entered in the tournament, has a long run record of 565 which he made at Viola, Ill., in 1909 in an unfinished run. There were not enough targets to finish the shoot that day and at that time records could not be carried over to another shoot.

Those registered in the tournament are: W. H. Lake, T. H. Mitchell, F. L. Whitmore, R. F. Greenlee and H. E. Moore of Bedford, Ia., Art Johnson and E. J. Moorehead of Falls City, Neb., Charles A. Spencer, St. Louis; T. M. Yocum, DeKalb; James McCappin, Bolckow; H. F. Ehler and Charles Ehler, Slater; O. W. Bowers, Westboro, and R. R. Souers, Roy Yeaman, Theodore Robinson, L. A. Conder, Lloyd Geist and H. I. Souers of Maryville.

The tournament will close tomorrow and it is expected more contestants will arrive here this evening or in the morning to take part. The shooting tomorrow begins at 8:30 o'clock. There are seven events of 20 targets, one event of 15 pairs (30) targets, and a 30 target handicap.

The public is cordially invited to attend this tournament. There is plenty of shade. The grounds are located north of the Burlington station.

ARE URGING MEN TO STAND FIRM

STRIKE LEADERS AGAINST SEPARATE AGREEMENTS.

ON WARTIME REGULATION

Emergency Order Will Relieve the Public Suffering—Martial Law at Denison, Texas.

Chicago, July 26.—Strike leaders are apparently urging the men to stand firm as negotiations for settlement of the walkout reached a stage at which each side is waiting for the next move of the opposition.

Jewell, the strike leader, is standing steadfastly against separate agreements with individual railroads. Interest is manifested in the efforts of President Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio to reach a separate agreement. Other executives are expected to follow if Willard is successful.

Washington, July 26—The nation is back on wartime regulation of the railroads in peace time and industrial chaos appeared far distant. It is believed the emergency order will relieve the public suffering to a minimum and afford the government a breathing spell to plan methods of settling the strike.

The co-operation of the state railroad commissions of various states to carry out the commerce commission's emergency priority order in shipments of fuel and food was asked by the commission communication addressed to the state commission.

Washington, July 26— W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania lines, considered the most avowed opponent to concessions to the striking railway shopmen, conferred at the White House with the president, Hoover and James Davis, director general of the railroads. The Pennsylvania lines have been asked to transport large amounts of coal from the coal fields.

Austin, Texas, July 26. — Governor Neff proclaimed martial law at the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad area at Denison and of certain portions of Grayson County along the tracks of the Houston and Texas Central railroad. Rangers have been sent to Sherman and Childress.

Chicago, July 26—Strikebreakers were badly beaten by a group of strikers in the Illinois shops at Burside. A strikebreaker fired four shots. None were injured. The policemen restored order and arrested one.

Washington, July 26.—Support of the railroad labor board as the only agency created by law for handling the transportation tie-up, acceleration of coal production under federal protection and control of fuel distribution were given by administration spokesmen as the three fundamentals of the government's policy toward the industrial crisis involved in the coal and railroad strikes.

Restatement of the government's position followed the regular Tuesday meeting of the cabinet, which for nearly three hours devoted its attention to the double threat against the country's economic fabric—famine in fuel and disruption of interstate commerce.

The first step toward control of depleted transportation facilities and coal supply came shortly afterward in a statement from the interstate commerce commission, declaring an emergency existed in the territory east of the Mississippi which required the commission to direct the routing of all essential commodities and to fix preference and priority status to control movement of food and fuel.

Becoming effective today, the commission's mandates give railroads priority on fuel requirements, with electric power, light, gas, water and sewer works, ice plants serving the public and refrigeration plants engaged in preservation of food following in the order named.

Proposed appointment of a federal commission to investigate the coal industry received further support yesterday in a resolution introduced in the

EQUAL RIGHTS AND EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES

"A nation's conscious concern over education measures its interest in its own feature."—Slogan of the National Education Association. No part of a nation's educational system is worthy of so much conscious concern as is the school where its farmers are prepared for their duties and responsibilities. And no part of a nation's education system is so difficult to develop and maintain satisfactorily as its rural schools.

Educating one considerable part of its children well and another large and important part badly is an unsafe program for any nation, however rich and powerful.

The principle upon which our nation was founded—that of equal rights and equal opportunities to all—is being grossly violated in the matter of the education of the country child. Equal opportunity is not even approximated when the children of the city attend school in a comfortable, commodious, sanitary, and well lighted building, and taught by well trained and carefully supervised teachers; are accurately graded and given every facility that modern progress has provided, while children of the farm are brought together in a poor, one-room schoolhouse, where one teacher, a poorly trained, inexperienced, underpaid girl teaches all grades and that without modern help and with almost no supervision. To the inexperienced country teacher is given the most difficult task in education—that of teaching the entire range of elementary subjects to small and unclassified groups.

Eight million farm children in the United States must be satisfied with an education costing $24 a year each, while approximately an equal number of city children have spent upon their education $40 a year. The country child's school year is thirty-eight days shorter than the city child's school year. The country child gets only six years of elementary schooling, as compared with eight years given the city child. Country children lose by absence on the average of 28 per cent of a seven months' school year and the children of a town school lose but 21 per cent of a nine months' school year.

Half of the rural teachers of the United States have never finished a 4 year high school course; 10 per cent have never studied beyond the grade they teach; and only two in a hundred have graduated from a normal school or college. In only twelve states is provision made for a professionally prepared supervisor for its schools. In more than half the states county superintendents of education, these in charge of rural schools, are chosen on the basis of their political affiliations. No other school supervisor is so chosen.

No wonder the country child's interest in school lags; no wonder the attendance record in country schools is low; no wonder progress in education among country children is unsatisfactory. The fault lies not with country children, but with country schools.

While we have made marvelous progress in the last quarter of a century in our professional schools, colleges, universities, high schools and city graded schools, yet the old type of rural school remains almost unchanged. The facilities of this school are in the main about as crude as they were half a century ago.

But merely talking about the deficiencies of country schools accomplishes nothing. If we hope to equalize the educational opportunities of the country and the city child we must take radical steps with the country school. We must make the country the school unit and replace the isolated, weak, one-room school with a well supervised and well equipped consolidated institution.

If country people as a whole realized the extent to which their children are denied the privileges of other children in the matter of education, there would be nothing short of an open revolt. The fathers and mothers of these cheated children would say: "We must have better schools for our children at any cost. If the burden is greater than we can bear, the cities must help carry the load."

As good schools in the country as in the city is the only safe course for any nation.—H. J. Walters in Kansas City Star.

Paddles on the bottom aid in the movement. Steering is accomplished by a rudder operated by bicycle handle bars. In windy weather a sail assists the walker.

The man who is careful
What he does here will
Not have to worry much
About the hereafter

The meek may inherit the earth, but how would you like to pay their income tax?

A neighbor says nothing will make him madder than to have some boob brag that his next winter's coal is in the bin.

Even at this late day there are men who will stand at the soda water counter and while drinking some soft concoction, try to find the brass rail with their feet.

We notice many stores are advertising vacation books. The best vacation book we know is the pocket book.

A druggist told us the other day that he sold as much perfume to men as to women. "Of course they are buying it for their wives" he remarked with a wink.

Uncle Abner, says the reason some Maryville golfers never lose a ball is because they never hit one.

Women are funny. Not so long ago we saw a bow-legged flapper making fun of a knocked-kneed sister at a bathing beach.

In mother's day we used to Say "the hand that rocks
The cradle rules the world"
But now we ask what do you pay her.

What we really need is some one to get up a reduction diet for fat heads.

Louise, the stenographer, says if you are content to stay down you should not complain of being trampled on.

One of our friends who sells furniture says old maids need not look under the beds any longer for burglars as the kind hearted manufacturers are building them so low a man could not crawl under them.

Vagrant Musings.

There are no traffic cops on life's highway.

People in glass houses frequently have no rocks to throw.

The average man is roasted more than he is toasted.

The fool who didn't know it was loaded lives anew in the boob who did not know a train was due at the crossing when he wished to cross.

A man with a jealous wife should never carry a broken cigar in his vest pocket.

Why the Traffic Cop Laughed.

"Honest, officer, I did not see the "No Parking" signs over there."

Nurse To Go On Vacation

Miss Margaret Scully, county health nurse, will leave Friday for a two weeks vacation in Colorado. She will meet Miss Elizabeth Payne, county health nurse of Henry County at Kansas City and will go to the ranch of Miss Payne's parents at Cowdrew, Colo. They will spend one day in Denver.

Wilson Claypool Fined $20.

Wilson Claypool of near Burlington Junction was fined $20 and costs in police court last night on a charge of drunkenness while in Maryville on the night of July 19. Ed Wallace arrested Claypool near Burlington Junction yesterday. The costs amounted to $11.65.

Visiting at Quitman

C. E. Branson of St. Joseph is visiting his brother, W. F. Branson, at the hotel at Quitman.

THE Fisk Cord is giving more value in service this year than was ever put into a tire of any kind before.

The buying public knows it, too—for, even though the Fisk factory, working at capacity, is bending every possible effort to build them, it has had difficulty in keeping up with the demand.

Before you buy any other tire, compare it with a Fisk Cord—the tire whose distinctive extra quality you can see and feel, weigh and measure at the time you buy.

There's a Fisk Tire of extra value in every size, for car, truck or speed wagon

After the Showdown

The great "buyers' strike" of 1920-21, a never-to-be-forgotten event in the economic history of this country, proved a point which must henceforth be recognized as basic and incontrovertible.

It was discovered by merchants and jobbers everywhere, in practically every line of merchandise, that it was the trademarked and adequately advertised brands of goods that got the lion's share of the business there was to get, while the preponderant loss of sales fell on the unbranded and unadvertised goods.

This was a great "showdown" for Advertising. Its position as a factor in economic life was on trial. Had it really done what had always been claimed for it? Had it created consumer preference that would hold against the keen competition of a sacrifice price on unmarked goods?

The verdict of the buying public was unqualified. It was not a straw vote to determine popularity. It was the final test of willingness to buy. The ballots were dollars. And the preponderant majority voted with their dollars that they preferred to keep right on buying advertised goods.

With the whole country on a reduced schedule of production and sales, the factories that were able to keep on producing, in anything like normal quantities, were invariably those making trademarked and nationally advertised goods.

All over the country today manufacturers, jobbers, and merchants are giving serious consideration to this important and conspicuously demonstrated fact: the public prefer to buy nationally advertised brands of merchandise. And public demand is the last word in all economic situations. No one can go against it and long endure.

This will mean, then, that more and more manufacturers will seek out ways to make their products worthy of a distinctive trademark and a sustained plan of advertising. It will mean that merchants will more and more give preference in their stocks to advertised brands. It will mean that the jobbers will more and more arrange to supply the merchant with advertised brands.

But new advertisers, manufacturers who are finally convinced that their future lies in the direction of an advertised product, will discover that the magic power of advertising cannot be applied overnight. It may require sustained effort to attain a position of equality with competitors who have been advertising for many years. This will be an unwelcome discovery. But it will be found to be the truth, and will be their only hope of gaining a substantial foothold in what, from now on, must continue to be a more keenly competitive market than we have known for a generation.

Long Sleeves and Thin Ruffles For Women

Almost imperceptibly the new Silhouette has come about—the armhole has grown much smaller, sleeves are long and thin and ruffle out around the wrists, the bodice is fitted, the skirt full and rippling around the bottom, the neckline is no longer round but is square.

Suggestions of this change have reached us for the past two seasons and the shops show summer dresses more and more approaching this silhouette. They are shown especially for girls and young women and are decidedly becoming of youths faces and figures.

Organdies and swiss are the favorite materials for dresses of this fashion, since their stiffness makes the new silhouette even more pronounced.

Suppose

Did some one say "Suppose we have her write?" Did some one say "Suppose we have her speak?" Well perhaps you'll prefer I had done neither, but just suppose I try.

Suppose Adam and Eve had not eaten the apple. We would have no Christmas Day. Suppose Columbus had not discovered America, who can answer? Suppose this old earth was flat, we would all be bumped off round the corners. Suppose the earth was without mines, we would not celebrate our diamond wedding day. Suppose all the Smiths were left off the earth, there would be more room for the Browns, Jones and Millers. Suppose there were no pianos or lawn mowers, your next door neighbor could sleep. Suppose everybody's hair was black, there would be no excuse for red headed tempers. Suppose there were no mice or snakes women would be drafted as soldiers. Suppose there were no birds of the air, perhaps Thanksgiving Turkey would roost higher. Suppose others criticised our husbands as we do, there would be a neighborhood row. Suppose husbands were as polite to their wives as they are to other women, there would be more happy homes. Suppose there were no sweethearts, women in older days would not have the pleasure of the last word. Suppose we had no neighbors, Gossips would run out of news. Suppose there were no News-papers, what, oh what would some do for "puffs." Suppose there were no knockers, everybody would be winners. Suppose the profiteer controlled the sugar market, the gooseberry would decay. Suppose the Kaiser had come to America, Holland would not have a white elephant. Suppose all boys liked school, everyone would want to be teachers. Suppose our boy or girl were not the most talented, knowledge would not be so concentrated. Suppose my baby were not the prettiest, the photographer's display would be more attractive. Suppose there had been no Longfellow, a smaller man would have writeen Evangeline. Suppose life were just imposibilities, there would be no, "try try again." Suppose no one repented of wrong doing, there would be no "Greater Joy in Heaven." Suppose we could live our lives over, what few mistakes we would make. Suppose Webster was not the author of the dictionary, well "suppose" and "to imagine" perhaps would not mean the same.

This was supplied by one of the members of the Willing Workers.

Brighton Beach Girls Playing Water Baseball

Water baseball is the latest game among the beauties who flock to Brighton Beach, New York's popular seaside resort. The game is fashioned after the national pastime, but played in slightly different manner. Home plate is anchored in a rowboat or on a raft, where the catcher and batter stand. The various bases are marked off with flags. The pitcher treads water while delivering the ball.

senate by Senator Borah, chairman of the labor committee.

Administration spokesmen said it had been decided the railroad board's statutory authority to determine wages and working conditions for railroad employees must be recognized and upheld and attempts to operate mines in spite of the miners' strike must be continued until it is demonstrated that not enough men are willing to work under state and federal protection to bring out adequate tonnage.

Meanwhile, in the fuel crisis resulting from the coal strike, the powers of the government will be used to distribute the diminished current production of coal in accordance with the demands of 'public welfare and to prevent the taking of extortionate profits.

While the railroad labor board would be upheld in its endeavors to deal with the strike of shop craftsmen, it was intimated in official circles that if the concession of seniority rights to strikers who have left service would result in their return to work the railroad managements ought to yield the point.

TESTS FOR CATTLE AT WILCOX TO BE SATURDAY

Dr. Eagle Thinks Plans Will be Carried Out for Making Pictures for Agriculture Films.

The tuberculin test for cattle, which was to be held at the stock yards in Wilcox yesterday by Dr. T. J. Eagle was postponed and will be held there Saturday. Any one who has cattle which they wish to have tested can make arrangements to have them examined by calling the Farmers Exchange at Wilcox.

Dr. Eagle said today that he believed the arrangements for taking of pictures of the tests for the Nodaway County agriculture films will be carried out. He feels that it is important that the work that is being done in the county along the line of tuberculin tests be shown at the State Fair, along with the other features of the county.

Dr. Eagle is calling attention to the fact that all cattle more than one month old are to be tested.

"Veiled Prophets?"

The Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm is a modern secret society of America, and although it has only been a short time in existence boasts a membership of over 100,000 master Masons in good standing, but, it is in no way connected with Freemasonry. The ritual observed is most elaborate, being formed on an old Persian manuscript discovered in a secret vault at Teheran. The nomenclature of the order is somewhat curious, the members being styled prophets. The branches are known as grottos, while the chief is called the grand monarch.

Cutting Off the Last Word.

Archeologists have recently been puzzled over the finding of the headless body of an Egyptian princess in an ancient tomb. It seems that the question as to how the lady lost her head is important in archeological circles.

In certain oriental countries it is customary for the head of the house, in the event of a domestic argument, to behead the lady, thus cutting the argument short. Doubtless, the last words that issued from the lips of the headless princess were: "Where have you been?"—Judge.

Miss Eleanor Nicholas is visiting relatives in Burlington Junction this week.

A Treacherous Undertow

With Nodaway Co. Farmers

I. V. Moore

I. V. Moore, near Ravenwood had a small patch of Hubam sweet clover, sown this spring, which was shoulder high when he plowed it under the other day. The clover was grown on land which had plenty of lime.

Hubam clover is an annual white sweet clover variety. It has not been raised on a large scale in this territory and for that reason it is not known whether or not it would be a satisfactory crop for this county. Some who have raised small patches of it like it and others do not like it. Usually the seed is high priced.

J. C. Chestnut.

J. C. Chestnut is feeding a carload of cattle at his farm, four and a half miles northeast of Maryville, and he also has two carloads of hogs on feed. It is Mr. Chestnut's practice to begin feeding his cattle in July and he puts them on the market in December, just before the holidays.

Mr. Chestnut's farm contains 111 acres and he keeps it mostly in grass and meadow to avoid washing in the heavy rains. He took advantage of the recent big rain and plowed up one of his fields of alfalfa, which had ceased to produce much, since the stand had about run out. He will sow the land in rye this fall for pasture and will turn this under in the spring, putting the ground in corn.

Mrs. Chestnut is a great believer in the Rhoade Island chicken and has one of the large flocks of the county. She hatched off about 700 this spring and has 400 now. She sold three dozen the other day. She says that she will keep most of the pullets and that she will cull out most of her old hens this fall. She does this every year and thereby keeps young stock, which she says is the best pratice if one will get a large number of eggs. She got eggs from her flock every day last winter and when the right time of year came she got a large number.

A. R. Robinson.

A. R. Robinson cut two and a half acres of Sudan Grass at the Sunset Hill Farm, five miles northeast of Maryville, yesterday that was so high that he could scarcely see his team when he was at the other side of the patch. He had a time getting the mower to cut the crop, it was so heavy. He will place it in his barn and expects to cut another good crop off the field. He says that this crop will make two tons to the acre.

Mr. Robinson purchased a pure bred Jersey cow at the Hartness sale in the spring and expects to gradually breed up a herd of pure breds.

Beginning with the strawberry crop this spring Mr. Robinson has been harvesting some kind of berries or fruit almost continuously. Following the strawberries came cherries, then blackberries and now the peaches are about ready to pick. When he has the peach crop off hands some of the apples will be ripe. He has two trees of Wolf Rivers, which he says sometimes grow as large as 17 inches in diameter.

Mr. Robinson has but forty acres in his farm but says that it keeps him about as busy as he can be.

Mrs. Robinson raises Borrowed Rock chickens and has sent cockerels from the farm to several sections of the country.

The Robinsons take a pride in keeping their home appearing well. The lawn is nicely mown and the buildings are well painted.

Levi Wallace.

Levi Wallace is feeding two carloads of cattle and a load of hogs at his farm just east of the One Hundred and Two River. Some of the hogs are getting pretty heavy.

Mr. Wallace has 325 acres of land, a large portion of which lies in the river bottom. On this bottom land he has 160 acres of corn. The corn was damaged some by the high water in the river, but it will make a pretty good crop at that, if there are no other disasters. He rents out his corn land and collects a grain rental. With this grain he feeds his cattle and hogs.

Little small grain was sown at the Wallace farm for harvest this year and what was sown was on the upland. Consequently Mr. Wallace did not have any losses in the flood, other than damage to his corn.

Dr. C. H. Coe

Dr. C. H. Coe has twenty acres of young alfalfa at his farm northeast of Maryville that looks as good as any in the country. A part of the second cutting was still on the field when the big rain came the night of July 9 and the third crop is now as high as the ordinary crop is when it is ready to cut. It is clean and an even stand over the field. The wet weather spoiled a lot of the second crop by keeping it wet so long.

Dr. Coe has a bunch of white sheates at his farm which has done exceptionally well. Although spring pigs the lot will average about 100 pounds. Dr. Coe does not believe in a "loating period" in the production of hogs for the market and will give the proper feeds to keep the bunch coming right along until he is ready to put them on the market.

A. C. Mart

A. C. Mart on what is known as the Morris Sherlock farm, about four miles northeast of Maryville, has been making a kind of specialty this year of raising young hogs for the market. He put a few on in June which weighed 225 pounds and which topped the market at $10.55 a hundred. He has seventy-five head of hogs on the place now.

Mr. Mart keeps seven head of cows and feeds the skimmed milk to the hogs. He has sixty-five acres of corn on the farm and a pretty good crop of apples.

St. Patrick's ladies will hold a Market and Candy Sale Saturday, July 29, at the Howard Wray hardware store.

HAD TO GET AFFIDAVIT BEFORE GETTING LICENSE

When Harold F. Golding, a son of William M. Golding of west of Maryville, applied to the recorder of deeds at Springfield, Mo., for a marriage license and said he was under age, he was informed it was necessary to get his father's consent. Young Golding appealed to Elmer E. McJimsey of Springfield. Editor McJimsey telephoned to Recorder Dan R. Baker here to get an affadivit from the boys father of his consent to the marriage and to send it as soon as possible to the recorder at Springfield. The affadavit was sent out this afternoon by Recorder Baker. The name of the bride given was Merle Kessler of Charity, Mo.

Miss Elizabeth Brainerd, county superintendent of schools of Grundy County, is visiting in Maryville with friends attending the State Teachers College.

Clear Explanation.

A stock broker's clerk, visiting a Long Island resort, met a young woman who, for some reason or other, chose to regard him as an authority in matters aquatic. He strove to merit her confidence, but was not always successful in his explanations, though she seemed to think so.

"Why," she asked on one occasion, "did those boats sail from one side of the sound to the other instead of going straight ahead?"

"Well, you see," explained the broker's clerk, "it's like this: When the wind blows crooked like this they have to go crooked, so as to go straight along—"

"How plain you make it!" exclaimed the girl; "I never thought of that before."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mixed Trade.

A little fellow entered a general store in the suburbs and said: "Please, my mother says will you give her a needle for this egg?"

The storekeeper smiled. "Why," he said, "you can get a whole packet of needles for that nice fresh egg."

"No, sir," said the boy, "my mother don't want a whole packet. She says please give me the change in cheese."—Boston Transcript.

10 OUT OF 106 HAVE NO RELIGIOUS AFFILIATION

Statistics Issued by the Federal Council of Churches and Printed In Year Book

Washington, July 26—According to statistics gathered by the Federal Council of Churches, and printed in the Year Book of the Churches which has just been issued, of every 106 persons in the United States, 10 have no religious affiliation and 96 are affiliated through membership, financial support, attendance or other ties with various religious bodies, as follows:

Protestant	75
Roman Catholic	18
Other Faiths	3
No religious affiliation	10
Total	106

The Year Book of the Churches gives the total church population of the country as follows:

Roman Catholic	17,885,646
Eastern Orthodox	411,054
Latter Day Saints	587,918
Jewish	1,600,000
Protestant	75,099,489
	95,584,107

On this basis the Methodist and Baptist churches have a greater constituency than the Roman Catholic church, the figures being:

Methodists	22,171,959
Baptists	21,938,700
Roman Catholics	17,885,646

In connection with these figures, the Year Book, which was compiled by Dr. E. O. Watson, Washington secretary of the Federal Council of churches explains the difficulty of reaching a basis of comparison of the different religious bodies owing to their varying basis of membership.

The Year Book of the Churches brings out the different methods of computing membership in the Roman Catholic and most of the Protestant bodies. The Roman Catholic church, according to the Catholic Directory, includes in its membership "Catholic population" while all but a few small bodies of the Protestant churches count only communicant members. So the two figures are not comparable unless the Protestant membership is used as a basis for "constituency" or "Protestant population."

It has been somewhat difficult to get the proper ratio between communicant membership and constituency but Dr. Walter Laidlaw of New York, who has had large experience as statistician of the New York Federation of Churches and in Census Bureau, has demonstrated through various tests that communicant membership multiplied by 2.8 will give "church population." For instance, it is misleading to say that there are 17,885,646 Roman Catholic and 26,745,543 Protestants, when the former refers to "Roman Catholic Population" and the latter is "communicant membership." To make them comparable the Protestant communicant membership has been multiplied by 2.8.

The Year Book also shows that whereas by the latest figures available on January 1, 1921 the combined communicant membership of the Baptist Churches of the country led the combined Methodists by 37,259, belated returns by the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church give the Methodists a lead of 83,307. The growth of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church is said to be the most remarkable growth of the churches for the five year period. The Methodists have 7,918,557 communicant members and the Baptists 7,836,250 communicant members.

WHAT DOES SIGN THIS SIDE OF GRAHAM SAY?

Is It "60½ Miles," Is It "So.½ Mile?" Or Is It "Go ½ Mile?"—Anyway You Detour.

A sign in the road a mile this side of Graham, directing those traveling the road to detour has caused a lot of comment and speculation as to what it says. There is no doubt about the sign telling the traveler to detour—that is plain enough. But what of the distance he must go!

A party of motorists Sunday came to the sign and were sure it said to detour 60½ miles. They started south with long faces but after traveling a half mile came to where the well-worn road turned again in the direction of Graham, and in a few minutes they were in town. Then they knew that the "60½" was either a joke or that they had misread the sign. They came to the conclusion that what they had taken for "60" was really "So." for South.

A party passed the sign yesterday and say that they, on returning for a second look, came to the conclusion that the two characters in doubt were "G" and "o" forming "go' and that the sign really read "Go ½ mile."
